

Remembering the Past, Believing in the Future

The 100th Anniversary Celebration Steering Committee is planning to compile a book of articles celebrating the history and activities of Community Presbyterian Church over the past 100 years. We are hoping this compilation will include many contributions from our church goers both past and present. We are seeking folks who might have stories to tell about the history of CPC, about CPC events in which they may have participated, humorous memories of occasions and people, or history of some of their own family members' participation in our church activities. We encourage your contributions, as we would like the book to be representative of our congregation and their knowledge, as well as that of the Committee.

If you are willing to write something to share, please send your contribution to Chris Kirkland at ckirkland@aol.com or call the church office at 949.493.1502 to request an interview.
